

Arts and Science Vote Now

R. Tremaine Urges All Undergrads Cast Ballots

The elections for class officers in the faculties of Arts and Science are being held today. The polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. and are situated in the Men's Common Room in the Arts Building and also in the R.V.C. for residence students.

The chief returning officer is David Fricker.

In order to vote, the undergraduate must present the membership card received at the time of registration. If, for any reason a student of either the Arts or Science Faculty does not have this card, he can obtain it at the time of voting. The student's library card must be presented as a means of identification.

The following is a list of the candidates:

Second Year
Vice-President: Joan Bayer, Nancy Wilson.

Third Year
President: Douglas Riddle, Fraser Vipond.

Vice-President: Barbara Ann Brown, Joan Radley.
Secretary: Elizabeth Atkinson, Louise Ferrier.

Fourth Year
President: Bob MacKay, Nat Wolfe.

Dick Tremaine, president of the Arts and Science Undergraduates Society, strongly urges all undergraduates of these two faculties to vote. According to him, "the strength of the student government depends to a large extent upon the support given to it by the student body," and he continued, "the class officers are vitally important in building up and maintaining a vigorous class spirit."

He also explained "that these elected officers will be encouraged by the Arts and Science Undergraduates Society to organize class banquets, various social events including smokers." Dick Tremaine remarked that there had been numerous complaints because this item of smokers had been neglected in the past.

It was stated that the election wasn't being held at Dawson, but that in the near future they would be able to express their electoral opinion on this matter.

As a closing word, Dick Tremaine said, "don't be during the year, support your candidate at the polls today."

Engineers Win Interfaculty League Debate

The affirmative team of Granville Johnson and Denis Stairs won the debate between the Engineers and the Commerce men held in the Engineering Building yesterday. The topic of the discussion was "Resolved that there should be military training in Canada." Commerce students Charles LeRoy and Eric Colbert took the negative stand.

Paul Orr, past president of the Loyola Debating League, acted as judge and critic of the debate, and remarked that his decision was prone to error as it was the opinion of one judge.

The main point introduced by the affirmative was that conscription would be advantageous both to Canada and the individual in that it would provide good discipline, more patriotism, and better health.

The negative side's chief arguments were that there is no need for a conscript army, this system is incompatible with our ideas of democracy, and it would lead us to another thousand years of military chaos similar to that we have just experienced up to the present time. One member of the negative team also remarked that such an army would merely result in an enlarged boy scout organization.

Word has just been received that the McGill soccer team tied the Interprovincial championship Stelio eleven, 2-2 under lights at Molson Stadium, last night.

Information and application forms are available at the C.O.T.C. Office, Sir Arthur Currie Gym-Armory.

All students will have an equal chance of being accepted, as no vacancies will be filled until selection is complete. It is essential that all students file applications before the above date.

Coeds Plan Annual Meet, Year's Policy

The Women's Union annual meeting will take place on Monday, November 17, at 5 p.m., the executive announced after its first session under the new president, Mary Stephens. The membership of the Women's Union is to elect a chairman for the Christmas Dance Committee, and someone to take charge of payments and distribution of new class pins. Mimeographed copies of the agenda are to be distributed, enumerating the various points the members of the society will consider. For a half hour before the assembly is called to order, tea will be served.

Friday, November 7, is the date set for the monthly Round Table Conference. The time is 1 p.m., and the place the Women's Union office, in R.V.C. All clubs under that organization are asked to send a representative.

Class Pins

There are still 17 pins left, for the class of '47. They are $2.58, and will be on sale again when the office is open to take orders and payment from those who would like to order pins this year.

Posters for Women's Union activities are in continued demand, and it is expected that volunteers to look after this aspect of the organization's publicity will be found at the meeting next week. Other definite plans are the Christmas Dance on December 17, and suggestion boxes to be left on the R.V.C. notice board, and in the women's common room in the Arts Building. These last should be up within a week.

Lounge Available

The downstairs lounge will be available for club meetings after 7.30 in evening. There is a book in that room for appointments, which will be approved by the Women's Union president. R.V.C., however, reserves the right to grant the use of the room to groups with male members, so that such groups will have to obtain permission from the College itself as well as from the Women's Union.

In the realm of probability is a Sunday night Open House and buffet supper, for co-eds and their friends of both sexes, particularly for the benefit of out-of-town students living in rooming houses. The executive has emphasized its desire to make up for its late start by putting new plans into action as quickly as possible.

Red & White Revue Needs All Musicians

The executive of the Red and White Revue has sent out an urgent call for musicians. There is a demand for anyone who can play any orchestral instrument, as this year, due to a new S.E.C. ruling, the orchestra is to be made up of undergraduate talent only.

There is also a great demand for original music and skits of any kind. There has been a mail box attached to the door of the Revue Office so that all material may be left there at any time.

Registration for all positions will be carried on Thursday afternoon in the Revue office at the Union, any time after two o'clock, it was announced. Gerry O'Brien, the producer, will be available all afternoon. Auditions will begin next week, but it is necessary for all those wishing to participate to register beforehand.

Arts, Science Dance To Be Held Saturday

The Arts and Science Fall Informal Dance will be held in the Sir Arthur Currie Gym this Saturday, Nov. 8th, from 8.30 to 12 P.M., it was announced by Dick Tremaine, president of the Society.

Following the McGill-Western game, it will be the last football dance this year. The admission will be $1.25 per couple and Faye Rodriguez, head of the dance committee, has plans to make this dance the best of the season. Faye also hopes that many Western students will attend.

Music for the evening will be supplied by the Westernaires and vocals will be sung by Barbara Dornbush, one of our own McGill students.

Drama League Plans Festival Next Season

Allan Williams, the president of the McGill Players Club, attended the first meeting of the Inter-Varsity Drama League since 1941, which was held on November 1st, at McMaster University.

The objects of this league are to raise the standard of dramatic production in Canadian universities, and to further the appreciation of the drama by the public in general. Its members are: Western, O.A.C., McMaster, U. of T., Queen's, McGill, and the University of Bishop's College. Queen's did not attend the conference, being unable to take part in the League's events for the coming season.

The members proceeded to make certain plans for a League Festival in 1948. Due to the financial position of most of the attending Dramatic Clubs, it was proposed that the League should be divided into two zones: those of the Ontario Universities, and of the Quebec Universities. The Quebec and Ontario festivals will be held in the 3rd and 4th weeks of February respectively.

Two Zones

In order to eliminate the travelling expenses of the winners for a final festival, it was decided that a chief adjudicator be appointed for the two zones, and be assisted in each zone by two judges. The League winner will be the entry that received the highest number of points.

To facilitate administration, a zone committee would be appointed in each of the two provinces, who will in turn be assisted by the festival committee at the universities where festivals are to be held.

The matter of inviting French speaking universities to join was approved, but due to the fact that organization and facilities were not felt to be sufficient at present, the invitation was extended to the 1948-49 activities of the league.

In order that a Quebec festival may be held, at least one more entrant, from Loyola, Sir George Williams, Dawson, or MacDonald College, is needed. Once this has been organized, it is highly probable that the Quebec festival will be held at McGill. The annual meeting of the League for 1948 will be held in conjunction with this festival.

Liberal Club CCF To Hold 'Atom' Debate

The President of the McGill Liberal Club, Marcel Joyal, and the President of the McGill L.P.P. Club, Bill Ornstein, will battle on the pros and cons of the topic, The Control of Atomic Energy, at the meeting of the Political Science Club today, at 1 p.m. in the Union Music Room.

Each speaker will give a 10-minute talk, in which he will outline briefly the attitude and policy of his party, with regard to the control measures presented at the United Nations Organization. The meeting will then be thrown open to discussion and questions by the speakers and the meeting as a whole.

Marcel Joyal is also the President of the McGill chapter of N.F.C.U.S., and is known on the campus as a leading debater and orator. As a Law student, he is reported to be well versed on the aspects of the subject.

Bill Ornstein is past President of the Student Labor Club and is a well-known campus figure.

International Relations Club To Hold Meeting Today 5 p.m.

The International Relations Club of McGill University holds its organizational meeting this afternoon at five in the New Room at the Union. Election of the new executive is scheduled for six fifteen, so as to enable those students with lectures until six to be present.

The Club, which was formerly restricted, in fact, though not in principle, to students-at-law at the University, for the past two years has enjoyed increasing support among the other faculties. Last year its roll of active members reached the imposing total, for a campus club, of over eighty, while for its general meetings many times that number were present.

Most notable among the Club's meetings was that at which Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt spoke, and one held last Wednesday with the Montreal Branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

Red & White Society Has Face Lifted

The McGill Red and White Society, now engaged in its membership drive, is a thoroughly revamped organization from that of last year.

The system of teams has been abolished and in its place various committee chairmen, under the leadership of Pete Landry, have been appointed to co-ordinate the student activities on a more efficient scale. By means of rallies, dances and other recreational activities the Society aims to promote campus spirit, and committees on entertainment, tickets, transportation, publicity, as well as a special dance committee have been set up. Thus the difficulties facing those who have had no experience in last year's teams will be greatly eliminated.

The executive is urging all students to join the Society, and activities for the year have already been started. Registration in the Society will continue during this week, and cards may be obtained at the porters' desks in the Arts, Engineering, R.V.C. and McGill Union buildings.

Jokers Move To Recapture Club Rooms

(By Canadian University Press) Vancouver.—The housing shortage has even hit the Jokers Club at U.B.C.

The members of this zany organization recently found their club rooms had been taken over by the Varsity Outdoor and Fish and Game clubs. Armed themselves with moth-eaten furniture, the Jokers barricaded the office of the A.M.S. president and told him that he would either have to move in with the Fish and Game Club and allow them to use his office, or the Jokers would have to be allowed to return to their old club rooms, and Fish and Game Club move in with the president.

At last reports, no home had been found for the Jokers Club, and they were planning a sit-down strike in front of Brock Hall, the home of the A.M.S.

The Jokers say that they should be allowed to return to their old club rooms.

Lionel Albert to Be Speaker for L.P.P.

Lionel Albert will speak at noon hour Marxist study group on current affairs, sponsored by the McGill L.P.P. Club, on Thursday, Nov. 6, at 1 p.m., in the new room of the McGill Union. His topic will be "Recent Developments within the United Nations Security Council."

The speaker who is an honour student in Economic and Political Science, has taken an interest in international politics especially since the formation of the United Nations Security Council. Moreover, Lionel has made a study of developments within the U.N.S.C. As a student at Dawson last year he won many debates sponsored by the Debating Society.

The Club's members is associate membership in the Canadian Institute. With this organization, as well as with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and the United Nations Society of Canada, close liaison is maintained by the McGill Society.

This year, also, it is hoped that the McGill Club will work closely with the newly founded Club des Relations Internationales of Montreal University. Opportunity is also afforded selected members to attend international gatherings, and to serve at them. Too late for implementation last year came an invitation from the UNO to propose a member for service at Lake Success with the Secretariat of the UN Organization.

The retiring executive look forward to a large attendance at the meeting this afternoon, in the expectation that a representative body of officers will be elected to succeed them.

Dentists Hear Dr. Bushell

A revolutionary phase of dentistry which has been widely acclaimed in Canada and the U.S.A. was outlined last night by Dr. W. C. Bushell of the Dental Faculty in his topic "The treatment of accidents involving complete and partial displacement of teeth," which was the initial lecture to the Dental Undergraduates Society of this year's series, held in the Medical building.

After being introduced by Mr. C. F. Merritt, Dr. Bushell noted that his subject was an unusual one in the dental profession but that if a dentist had one of these cases in a lifetime he felt that he had been repaid for his work in this field.

The loss of one tooth soon affects the other teeth one after another the rest of the teeth are lost with the result that many people wearing full dentures today owe this inconvenience to some hasty decision to move a damaged tooth. Dr. Bushell then went on to demonstrate the different methods of restoring and replanting teeth, illustrated by slides photographed by himself of some of his most interesting cases. In summing up the lecture he stressed the restorative over the extractive aspect, that is in favour of retaining teeth rather than inserting artificial dentures which are much more difficult to use, also that in this modern world of increasing speed these types of accidents are liable to happen more and more often. Dr. Bushell closed his address by stating that the gratefulness of parents for the preservation of their children's looks rewards the best efforts. Mr. L. Francis thanked Dr. Bushell then the meeting was thrown open for questions.

Previous to the address the Dental Undergraduates Society meeting discussed sundry items of business and at this time it was announced that this year two $10. prizes were to be given for the best article submitted to the Dental Review by undergraduates of the Dental faculty.

Student Veteran Society To Hold Election Nov. 13

Neurologists to Meet In Institute Today

A meeting of the society will be held on Wednesday, November 5, at 5 p.m. in the M.N.I. Amphitheatre.

The programme, which is called "The Medullary Centre of the Human Cerebrum as Revealed by Dissection," will be conducted by Professor Wendel Krieg.

Prof. Krieg is Professor of Neurosurgery and Director of the Institute of Neurology at Northwestern University Medical School.

CAMSI To Meet Soon At Kingston

The Eleventh National Convention of the Canadian Association of Medical Students and Interns will be held on Nov. 13-16 at Queen's University. The main points on the agenda will be the question of Aid to Interns, Summer Employment for Medical Students, the Camsi Journal and the Film Bureau as well as how Camsi and the CMA can be of aid to each other.

The National Executive which is at Queen's will be playing host to some 25-30 medical students and interns from the various medical centres across the country.

The McGill Medical Undergraduate Society will be represented by Alex Aronoff, Chairman of the Camsi Committee which is a sub-committee of the Mus and Bernard Costello a third year student who was the only nominee for the position at the last call for nominations. Mr. Costello has been a very active member of the committee in the past year.

Class Survey

The two delegates will make a class to class survey for the opinion of the students before going to the conference as there will be no general MUS meeting held before then. The members of the MUS are therefore urged to consider the above questions and be prepared to offer suggestions that the delegates will take to the convention.

The question of aid to interns was also tackled at the last convention, held at McGill. Since this question was last discussed, a questionnaire has been filled in and the results compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This convention proposes to develop practical steps that will be taken to implement the main points as determined from the opinions expressed in the questionnaire.

Summer Employment

Summer employment for medical students was proposed this year to the National Executive of Camsi as a national project. The plan is to survey all the available positions in the country that can be filled by medical students. It is felt that if the list of positions is available, more students would be able to pass the summer in an informative and remunerative way.

The Camsi Journal will also be discussed at this meeting. The Journal, which has a circulation of 5,000, is distributed to medical students and interns as well as private practitioners.

Charity's Goal Is In Sight

A total of $4,810.88 has been reached in the Combined Charities Campaign, it was announced last night. This is only slightly under the $5,000 objective.

From October 17 until the drive officially closed on Nov. 1, volunteer canvassers were spread about the campus in an effort to contact all students for contributions. In addition, a raffle was held, with the winner obtaining a trip to the McGill-Varsity game at Toronto.

Last Saturday, McGill girls canvassed the stands at Molson Stadium in a last attempt to put the campaign over the top. It was this effort that brought the total to the present results. Officials have reported that the Dawson results were poor.

The money from the drive is to be divided among the city's three main charitable organizations: Welfare Federation, Jewish Philanthropies, and Catholic Charities.

Executive's Report Received With Mixed Reaction by Vets

In order to obtain a more comprehensive representation of opinion, the Student Veterans' Society, meeting last night, voted in favour of a campus-wide election to be held on Thursday 13th. This motion followed adoption, after considerable discussion, of the Executive's reports on last year's activities dealing with Pensions, Finance, Housing, Educational Grants. A further motion to establish a new quorum was proposed, but discussion of this was brought to an end, owing to the fact that a quorum was no longer present.

Hillel Lecture To Be Given Tonight 8.15

Mr. Yehuda Yaari, one of Palestine's outstanding short story writers and novelists will be the guest speaker at the open meeting of the Hillel Zionist committee this evening at 8.15 p.m. in Hillel House 3460, Stanley street.

He is not unknown to Canadians for about fifteen years ago, Mr. Yaari lectured at Queen's University in Kingston. Born in Galicia in 1920 he went to Palestine as one of the early pioneer settlers and this background has given him a thorough working knowledge of not only the present political developments but also the creative achievements of the pioneer.

He is the author of "As the Light Shines", "The Shepherd" and other notable works which reflect his delight in nature and the joy of labour. His command of the English language is excellent and he is extremely well acquainted with the progress of the creative art of Palestine.

Pictured above is YEHUDA YAARI, distinguished writer and man of letters, who will address the Hillel Zionist Committee tonight at 8.15 p.m., in Hillel House.

Societe Francaise to Meet Next Thursday

All students interested in the post-war trends in France and in contemporary French culture are reminded that a meeting, the first of the year, is to be held under the auspices of La Societe Francaise, at 5 p.m. on Thursday, November 6, in R.V.C. Common Room.

On the agenda of the meeting will be the introduction of the executive to new members, the election of two officers to executive posts, and the outlining of the aims and programme of the Society. This is the first get-together of the French Society this year, and (Continued on page 4.)

The Housing Committee Report was accepted, with an amendment asking that correspondence of the Executive regarding housing be attached to the statement read and be given further consideration at a next meeting. In the discussion of this report, the retiring officers were asked to explain why the executive did not put on pressure to achieve subsidising of low cost housing.

A member demanded explanation on the Society's failure to ally with the Canadian Legion and other Vets' Societies on the question of housing. The officers pointed out that they felt their role limited to the help of individual cases of student accommodation and signalled that the report showed co-operation with the University authorities in all housing schemes on the different campuses.

Criticism

Criticism of the President's Report centred on the four points that ended his statement, as printed in yesterday's Daily. The topic of educational allowances, several members stated from the floor, has not been given adequate consideration. The Executive was blamed for taking a defeatist attitude towards the item of increase in grants.

The right of the President and a colleague in voting against the increase in grants at N.C.S.V. was claimed to be beyond and opposite to their mandate. It was pointed out that at the last meeting of the Vets' Society at which there was a quorum, a vote supported the demand for increase in grants. It was pointed out that two other meetings without quorum did not change the mandate given to the Executive. The President's Report was finally accepted, after a question was raised as to the alternative in procedure.

At 6:10 p.m., time for the election, the motion that nominations should take place was voted down by the meeting. It was pointed out that campus-wide election was necessary to give the society ability to represent the veteran group and that registration time, an hour before the meeting, was not sufficient to give every one opportunity to join. The motion for the election to be held on November 13th, after publicity has been given, and giving to all veterans the opportunity to become members on votation day, was given a large majority.

AMENDMENT

An amendment asked that nomination be closed in three days, i.e., November 7th, and that each nominee for a post shall require support of twenty-five members. The Executive since chose the Tuck Shop of the Union as the most suitable place for nominations to be left.

The Constitution of the Vets' Society asks for a quorum of 50 per cent of the registered members. It was pointed out that an increase in membership, as is likely to result from a campus-election, would make it next to impossible for the society to meet again as a group having power to change the constitution. A motion made at the meeting for a change in the constitution limiting the quorum to a fixed number of 300 members could not be carried out, since more than half of the 286 registered students had left the room before this late hour. It is expected that since no meeting is likely to be held before election day, a referendum on the question of quorum will accompany votation.

The Executive are proceeding with arrangements for the election of the new officers and details will be published in the Daily at the earliest opportunity, they stated last night.

Has it occurred to anyone that Victor is a bit of a misnomer for the McGill football mentor this season? Isn't it curious that the more games the grid Redmen lose, the bigger are the crowds they draw? Is it true that some zealous alumni from Queens University approached several players on the Montreal Alouettes with offers to partake in the educational benefits of the distinguished Kingston hall of learning? Was that writer in the Toronto Varsity just squeezing sour grapes when he claimed that Western had "the best team that money could buy?"

When it was announced that the injured Murray Hayes would only be used sparingly in the Varsity till, did a group of McGill students rise and reverently sing, "Hail Alma Mater, we sing to thy praise, Great our affliction, when is enfeebled our Hayes? Is there any basis for the rumor that Vic Obeck has half a dozen water horses running day and night spraying the turf in Molson Stadium with aqua pura with intention of waterlogging that galloping Mustang backfield Saturday?

Can anyone verify the story that McGill cheerleaderettes will have starring roles in the next film in the "Invisible Man" series? Do many McGill students realize that one of the most extensive athletic events ever to take place on this campus has passed the planning stage and will take place in February? Publicity is due to be released next week. How many people know that our letter-writing hockey columnist who originates "Forums" under the nom-de-plume of Bert, is in reality staff-writer Dick Joseph?

Who was the gullible freshman who said that McGill football sweaters were red because they "were drenched with the blood of previous battles"? Does anybody know if the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletics Union is going to come out from under the molhballs and alter the ridiculous football regulation that limits substitutions to 14 a quarter, with only two men allowed to be replaced twice? Talking about the C.I.A.U., when is it going to become a national organization and get rid of the "closed shop" attitude?

Is it common knowledge that the McGill men's Tennis Team has won the Intercollegiate Championship three years running, and three members, Bob Duford, Jack Spencer, and Breen Marien have competed each time? Is it possible that McGill authorities will prove far-sighted and invest in enlarging Molson Stadium till it can seat at least 30,000 people? Do they realize that with fairly decent weather they could draw a crowd that size for the Mustang-Redmen clash this week-end?

Does anyone want to predict how Dave Campbell's Red and White hockey squad is going to shape up this year? And for that matter, Howie Ryan's hoopssters? And what is the secret weapon that Dawson cage mentor Steve Armstrong is going to employ to revitalize his basketball squad after that 118-16 going-over they got the other night? Is it true that he is going to give them a shot of sulphacconfidence?

How many people who have seen the Western Mustangs up to date think they could outscore any other team in Canada? And wouldn't it be a tremendous shot in the arm for Intercollegiate Rugby if the Metrans would risk their reputation and compete in the Grey Cup playdowns? What chance has a team with a steady, powerful ground attack got in this seven down football the high schools are experimenting with? And how can Vic Obeck expect to get well-trained grid players coming to McGill as long as the high schools employ their present push-and-shove type of play? Does anybody think that Dan Parker will object to our cribbing his question-able style of column?

Red Cagers Clash with Central Y In Golden Ball Contest Friday

Heavy scrimmages will be the order of the week as Coach Howie Ryan preps his combined senior Intercollegiate and MBL cage crews for this Saturday's curtain raiser, a tussle with a Sir George Williams-Central Y.M.C.A. aggregation in the Golden Ball tournament. In the six or seven work-outs held thus far the axe has been lowered but once, and the survivors mentally classified as to ability. The actual assigning of the players to the various teams will depend upon their showing in this Saturday's encounter and inter-squad tilts. When this is completed, the McGill Mentor will have four teams under his direction, one each in the Junior, Senior, and Intermediate MBL and Senior CIAU. The composition of a team will vary throughout the season with the changing abilities of the players.

played with the Senior Redmen before being: George Davidson, starting his fifth year in red and white livery; Sammy Roth, a four-year man, and sophomores Duford, Bloom and Fraser. Last year's intermediate squad was quite productive with Duford, Cousineau, Hodge, Hayward, Murray, Allen and Elo, all trying for places on the big team. Also on the squad are men like Goldbloom, Laing, Dunn and Forquand, who previously toiled for Dawson's blue and red.

Junior Water Poloists Garner Fourth Triumph

The Redmen waterpoloists maintained their unbeaten streak last night as they coasted to an easy 10-0 victory over the Sir George Williams College. Sticky Don Walter paced the junior attack with five of the team's goals.

As a result of the win, the Redmen moved into first place in the league standing, two points ahead of the YMCA Reds.

Corrigan with two goals, Pete Cameron, Bill Osterman and Jim Ross notched the other markers for the McGillites. Corrigan was recalled from sick bay by Jimmy Rose as big Mingle could not make the game.

The senior and junior teams will take over the Legion Hall pool on Thursday at 5.00 p.m. for an extra long practice. Vic Curran's swimmers will vacation the tank for the day as Jimmy Rose's need the conditioning in a larger pool for their intercollegiate games.

M.B.L. Fixtures at Dawson; Blue and Red to Play Bishops In Intermediate Football Game

Dawson Team Meets Rockland Cage Club

There will be a hot time at the Orlik Gym tonight!

Dawsonites are to be given an opportunity to catch another eyeful of Senior Montreal Basketball League competition this evening, when four of the loop's top teams battle it out in an action-packed Golden Ball Tournament doubleheader. The gala event will feature encounters between the Y.M.H.A. and Central 'Y' and a nightcap engagement between the Rockland and Dawson crews. The proceedings are slated to get underway at 7.30 p.m., with dancing provided by the Dawson Sound Service to follow up.

DAWSON VICTORY-HUNGRY
Dawson coach Steve Armstrong has revamped his lineup, and tonight's fray will see the aggregation cut down to 10 men. The Red and Blue boys are out to make up for their Saturday night loss against the championship Y.M.H.A. team, and will be hitting the game seeking a victory over Rockland. The latter team, however, also lost its first encounters against the Georgians on Monday, and are looking for the win column.

The tentative starting Dawson roster includes Keeler and Armstrong at the guard slots, with a first line attacking trio of Shea at centre, with Flumerfeld and Bembridge as forwards. Other Dawsonites who will be under fire are Larry Brown, Ronnie Nickerson, Murray, Jones and Horn.

The Rocklanders present a formidable array, and will be led into St. Johns by top-notch guards Norm Segalowitz and Mickey McFall.

The opening game between the Y.M.H.A. and the Central Y promises to be a close and interesting exhibition as well.

Floor Hockey Upset, Commercials Downed

Behind the stellar goallending of Bill Smith, the Virgins registered the first upset of the season in the McGill Floor Hockey League by downing the Commercials 2-1. The Commercials were swarming all over the Virgins' goal but were held at bay by Smith. In the second game the Alkies defeated the Flashes 6-2 with Bill Fullerton scoring 3 goals for the Alkies.

The first game was the best yet seen with both teams passing the puck perfectly in a wide open tussle which had the spectators (all five of them) on their feet. Scorers for the Virgins were Slaughter and Duvall; for the Commercials, Jones.

The standouts for the Commercials were Jones and Charron with Rowe and Walsh starring for the Virgins.

The second game was comparatively dull. Besides Fullerton, the scorers for the Alkies were Woodward, Leavitt, and Shaw, with Bardwell and Gorman counting for the Flashes.

Hurrah! Hurrah! The Campbells are coming, but only for the purpose of "speechifying" at the Arthur Currie Gym this afternoon at five o'clock. This meeting is open to anyone interested in learning the finer intricacies of our national pastime and is compulsory to the members of all teams to represent the Red and White on the ice this winter.

Principal orator of the afternoon will be the prexy of the N.H.L. As a program note, his subject will have nothing to do with the atomic bomb or how to handle Russia, but, will be chiefly concerned with the rules and finer points of "inside hockey." A short talk by the other Campbell will follow, which should be interesting to the layman as it will provide a "behind the scenes" look into McGill's hockey setup.

TWO STARS, TWO
Both of the star performers in today's feature attraction have had a long and extensive connection with the subject under discussion, both from the players' and executives' angle. President Clarence, besides being a standout athlete, also found time to pick up a Rhodes scholarship and a degree in Law. He succeeded "Red" Dutton in the presidency of hockey's major league, a post which had been left vacant by the death of Frank Calder. Some of his other achievements include a Colonelcy in the army during the war, and an OBE collected while in the service.

A lie is an abomination unto the Lord, but a great help in time of trouble.

Bolstered Dynamos At Bishop's Tonight

By ED. MACDONALD

With their sights set on their second win of the season, the Dawson Dynamos journey to Lennoxville tonight, to play the powerful Bishop's squad. In their previous meeting, last Wednesday at Dawson, the Bishop's twelve swamped the fighting Dynamos by a 26-10 score. The game was played under the worst conditions Mother Nature could provide and as a result there were a good number of fumbles, without which the Dynamos might have fared better.

Now that the Q.R.F.U. play is at an end, Coach O'Donoghue will be able to merge both the Q.R.F.U. and Intermediate teams, with promising results. All players have had a good taste of play this season and are now at top form. The line will probably have old reliables Jim Grey, Jim Parsons, Fred Greenwood, Ian Everenden, Al Wilcox, Vic Findlay and George Piper. In the backfield there will be the familiar faces of "Touchdown" Bergey, Bawden, Johnson, Cliff Quince, "Lightning" Headley, Bill Young, John Smith, and Stephens.

With such an aggregation of win-hungry gridders behind him, Coach O'Donoghue should give the Bishop mentor a great deal of trouble in the master-minding department.

Red Swimmers In Intramural Contest Today

The long anticipated intramural swimming meet has been slated for today at five-thirty at the Canadian Legion Pool on Mountain street. The contest is composed of faculty teams and anyone is eligible and welcome. All entrants automatically garner two points for their faculties. Those who have trouble in making up their minds can hesitate until 5.15 when the entry lists close.

The order of events is as follows: 75-yard medley relay; 100, 50-yard backstroke; 100, 50-yard breaststroke; 100, 50-yard freestyle; 100-yard freestyle relay.

The first four swimmers in each race collect points, namely 5, 3, 2, and 1 respectively, according to their finishing positions.

Junior swimmers are reminded of their Friday practice scheduled for 7 o'clock.

Orr, Heney in Y.M.H.A. Boxing Show
McGill's boxing gold-dust twins, Milt Orr and Johnny Heney, get their first taste of competition this year when they meet up with two corking good Y.M.H.A. scrappers in the persons of Sam Krucka and Ken Wolofsky tonight. Orr matches fists with Krucka, while Heney climbs through the ropes against the experienced Wolofsky.
These bouts are part of the big boxing show that the "Y" has lined up to revive the fight game here and features ring champs of yesteryear. Those attending will be treated to a showing of the film of 12 championship profession fights, which lasts 55 minutes, a gift of Bernard "Bunny" Sabbath, popular and well-known amateur boxing enthusiast.
The "Y" champions of yesteryear will meet in the following exhibitions: Maxie Berger vs. Sammy Jacobs; Eli Brown vs. Maxie Spoon; Harry Baltin vs. Maxie Rubin; Davie Aranov vs. Dave Walters; Willie Wergler vs. Mike Shaffran; Lou Goldenberg vs. Lou Richman.

Gym Classes Teach Skills To Lower 99%

by Shirley Mendelsohn

"Here she comes, decrepit and old. She ain't what she used to be." No, this isn't the old grey mare, but only one of McGill's enthusiastic co-eds, after a hectic week of participating in various gym classes. McGill's athletic programme is designed for 99 per cent who need exercise rather than for the tiny fraction who can play for our inter-collegiate teams.

Let's pay a few visits to the R.V.C. Gym during the week.

The Tuesday morning apparatus class begins with a strenuous workout. Here, the girls practice the correct way to approach a horse-inanimate—vault over it, and land lightly on both feet. Have you co-eds ever tried leap-frogging over one girl? This class does it over two!

First thing Wednesday morning, the girls lunge up in the gymnasium class by running and skipping around the room for 10 minutes. Girls! Take notice! The "one, two, three — roll" has been doing wonders for the hips and waistlines!

Those who love to dance will be inspired by the Folk Dancing Class. Besides the ever-popular Square Dancing and Virginia Reels, Do, si Do, etc., the girls swing their partners to the gay music of Scandinavian and French Dances.

The Phys. Ed. Department also offers beginners' classes in basketball, badminton, volley-ball, archery and fencing. In these classes, the girls learn the techniques and rules of the game, enabling them to join the various clubs the next year. As club members, the girls are entitled to play inter-class as well as inter-collegiate games. Many sport "champs" are those girls who started in the beginners' classes and worked themselves up to star positions on these athletic clubs.

The swimming class is popular. In former years there were beginners' swimming, diving, and life-saving classes. After passing the necessary tests for these stages, the girls are prepared to enjoy the water as well as the waterfront next summer.

In the Modern Dance Techniques class is another favorite. There they learn the necessary movements and rhythmic integration of these two. This class is a prerequisite for the Junior Modern Dance Club, where the girls apply these techniques when composing their own original dances.

Those interested in participating in any of these gym classes should consult the notice board in R.V.C. The effects of these classes on the McGill co-eds are patent. The other day we saw a member of the Wednesday class vainly appealing to passers-by to help her down the Arts Building steps. But not next week!

do have one effect — they make one aware of opinions other than one's own, and cause one to reconsider one's own assessment of the problem of the moment. And, of course, if one hasn't got any opinions, there is always someone ready and willing to give you some — for free.

Of course, this may not be in the least desirable; I wouldn't know. One last thing — I hereby solemnly affirm that I have no sort, form, or species of connection with the Medieval Conclave, and that I do not desire to. (Nor (absit omen!) am I D. P. Graham.)

It is hoped by the executive that the importance of a good turn out will be realized by members and would-be members. Freshmen and freshmen are hereby informed that knowledge of the French language is not essential to membership in the Society.

And here we come with a suggestion. If you feel you'd like to prance, Take him to the Football Dance. For amusement on a higher plane, We recommend the football game. Here all your friends are sure to see you. And sigh and wish that they could be you. Be sure and wear your new length dress. And short cut hair won't look a mess. Don't feel that you are just Plain Jane. If our advice has been in vain, 'Cause if you have no dates, freshette, You can always be a cheerleaderette.

BRIEF ENCOUNTER: CO-WED and CO-ED

by PHYLLIS SINGER

Just about everybody was at the Toronto-McGill football game. Hundreds of people were in and out of the Union on Saturday at noon who don't usually get their coffee and doughnuts in the Grill Room. That was where I ran into Sheila. She has the distinction of being the first bride from our high school graduating class (1944) and I hadn't seen her for over three years.

"Where are you now?" and "How are you?" started the conversation rolling. "Did you come in from Dawson for the game?" I asked. "No, Peterson," was the reply. "Dan's in Second Year now."

"How's the baby?" Sheila also had the first child produced by our graduating class.

"All over the place. Last year, at least, you put her down somewhere, and there she stayed, but now it's really strenuous." She leaned back against the doorpost for support. "Still an hour until Dan finishes up in the lab."

"What do you say we go around the corner and have a bite to eat?" I suggested. "Bet it's not hard for you to stay slim." Both of us had been rather on the plump side three years ago, and Sheila did look very slim and very pretty.

"Slim, did you say? Thanks, Phyl, and me four months pregnant again."

"For heaven's sake!"

"Oh, everyone's like that at Dawson. Well, not everyone, but you know what I mean. And we're making money on this one. We get an extra twelve dollars a month, and we only pay an extra five. Dan wants to take me to the Plumbers' Ball this winter," she continued.

"Lucky girl," I said. "I wouldn't mind going either."

"Did you say lucky, in FEBRUARY?"

We ordered sandwiches and hot chocolate, and Sheila covered up a yawn. "Wish that kid of mine would learn to sleep in till seven o'clock once in a while."

"Must be tiring," I agreed, thinking of my one nine o'clock lecture a week, and the coffee steaming on the stove when I get up.

"There was an extra six dollars in our cheque last month," said Sheila, between mouthfuls of chopped egg sandwich. "And what do you think Dan did? He ups and buys me a pound of nuts. I don't know how much they were, $1.50, $1.98, maybe. NUTS—and the way I need a new pair of stockings! He makes such a do of it though, when he thinks of something like that, that I haven't put him wise yet."

"Going to the dance tonight?" I wondered if I should have said yes the other night to the fellow who invited me, or if I should have waited so I could have said yes to Joe, who asked me just before I met Sheila.

BUBBLING BABS

I help you solve all the problems that you can't bring to the Assistant Dean, or his Assistant. That's what I'm here for. Just write me a letter, put it in The Daily mailbox, and you will receive your answer from The Daily's newest department next week.

Here are some unsolicited freshman woes:

Dear Bubbling Babs:

I am madly in love with a 35-year-old Ph.D. student. My mother feels that he is too old but I know that he is the man for me, because he can help me with all my homework. He is established in life, and I am sure we could get along together. What do you think? —Frustrated Freshie.

Dear Freshie:

Your problem is serious. Although you may think that you know what you want, you may change your mind in a few years. Your husband may be a fat forty when you are 22. Wait, and do your homework with students under 35. Your Ph.D. is too much of a specialist to get you through First Year anyway. —B.B.

Dear Bubbling Babs:

I am at Dawson and my girl is at McGill. I haven't the money to come into town every day, and letters can't take the place of a sweet girl. Should I quit college or continue being miserable and lonely? Dawson Don Juan.

Save your money for your sweet girl, young man. Be thankful for week-ends, and that you will be at Dawson only two years out of four. —B.B.

'God of the Atom' Pic At Dawson Tonight

A widely acclaimed motion picture entitled GOD OF THE ATOM, is to be shown at Dawson tonight in theatre one. The show, which depicts many phases in the development of the Atomic Bomb, and which shows the testing of the "thing" at Bikini, will start at 7:00 p.m. ADMISSION WILL BE FREE and students are advised to place this picture on their must list as it is reported to be very informative.

Writers' Club Holds Election of Officers

The second meeting of the Writers' Club got under way last night in the McGill Union, when Hy Steirman officiated at the election of Club executives for the coming year. Officers elected were Hy Steirman, chairman; Marjorie Quayle, secretary-treasurer.

A vote was taken and passed on the new constitution which will be submitted to the SEC for approval in the near future. Further business was terminated when an announcement was made that Gerald Clark, Magazine Editor of the Montreal Standard, would speak at a coming meeting. It is hoped that Mr. Clark would, in addition, criticize the work of members of the club.

During the course of the evening, two members submitted short stories which were read and commented on by those present.

Borsman Issues Open Letter

This week the Red and White Society is holding a membership drive, and has asked me to say a few words on its behalf. This I am very glad to do.

I have had the privilege of being a student at this university a good number of years and in retrospect I realize how much enjoyment and benefit I have obtained from a number of so-called extra-curricular activities. In fact it is obvious that the university authorities lay a good deal of stress on the value of developing a wide range of interests. Applications for loans and scholarships, applications for full time positions following graduation all include a question concerning extra-curricular activities. In other words, they wish to know what contribution you have made to university life.

Here is an opportunity for anyone, regardless of interest and regardless of previous experience, to join a society with a wide range of activities and endless opportunities for its members. There is something else: the campus needs the Red and White Society and the activities and privileges it can promote. By being an active member you will be doing your part to make McGill a more interesting and enjoyable place to study.

HUGH BORSMAN.

At Dawson, today at 8 p.m., in room 25 of Dawson Hall, an open meeting of the DAWSON L.P.P. CLUB is scheduled. (If I use another preposition, or the word "Dawson" again, I shall be open game for "Irate Reader").

The gathering will be favored by the presence of the City organizer for the L.P.P., Mr. Harry Binder, who will speak on "The Marshall Plan, and How It Affects Canada."

On Thursday, the McGill division of this illustrious organization, namely the MCGILL L.P.P. CLUB, are holding a Marxist study group on Current Affairs in the New

Clock at Roddick Gates Has Background of Historical Note

By FEGGY BENJAMIN
(Daily Staff Writer.)

There are many faces on McGill campus — most of which will return one's greeting with a smile, or perhaps a frown, but anyway, an answer of some sort.

Not so the face of the Roddick Gates Clock; students may consult it with fear, disbelief, reproach, happy anticipation, impatience, defiance or relief, but the Clock's response is always the same — a bland, faintly condescending expression which seems to say: "Hurry on, little human, I'll be here long after I've ticked off the last moments of your life."

Secure in this knowledge, and also in the knowledge that, come any sort of rough weather, it need never be concerned about pimples, wrinkles, whiskers or make-up, Clock is undismayed when rude remarks are made about its face, and unsympathetic when students throw a worried glance in its direction on their belated way to a nine o'clock.

Kilroy Isn't There

Contrary to announcements on Clock's base regarding the tenancy of Kilroy and his daughters, Clock has been and is the only occupant of the left-most pillar of the Roddick Gates. What is within Clock's severe exterior is the mechanism connecting it electrically with the master clock in the Physics Building, and controlling its chimes and strikes, which originate from individual motors. Like most of us, Clock operates on impulses, only perhaps its impulses occur more frequently than ours since one trickles over from the Physics Building every half minute. Like few, if any, of us, Clock is mute between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m.

The historical background of Clock and the gates is both interesting and instructive: In 1923, Lady Roddick donated $50,000 to McGill, for the erection of gates in memorial to her husband, the late Sir Thomas G. Roddick. Sir Thomas, former dean of the Faculty of Medicine, was a member of the staff of McGill for thirty-six years; he came to Montreal from Newfoundland having studied there and in Nova Scotia, he graduated from McGill with the Holmes Gold Medal, in 1888; he was a member of the militia during the Fenian Raid and later took charge of the Medical Service of the Red River Expedition; he served as Conservative representative for Montreal West, and was also president of the British Medical Association. When Sir Thomas died in 1923, Lady Roddick perpetuated his memory by her gift of the Roddick Gates to McGill.

Roddick Donations

Lady Roddick is a member of a family which has been prominent in the University's growth; her grandfather, John Redpath, was one of the founders of the Presbyterian College, and her uncle, Peter Redpath, donated the Museum and, with his wife, the Redpath Library. When the gates were officially opened on May 28, 1925, Lady Roddick unlocked the padlock and then became the recipient of both key and padlock, which were given to her in an engraved box.

With this history, Clock should be, and is, a very solid citizen. It never worries (not even about Suicide Corner, or procrastinates (having only one thing to do each day—why should it?), or argues (being quite undemocratic—Clock just dictates), and what's more,

Students Will Hear Reports Of Commission

Final reports of the temporary committees studying the various strikes at present going on in and around Montreal will be presented at a meeting of the Student Labour-Management Commission Thursday evening, November 6th at 7.30.

The Commission, which was organized by the S.C.M. at the beginning of this session to study areas of existing and potential labour-management disputes, has set up four permanent committees

Clock is always five minutes in advance. So help me.

Marks Time

On the other hand, one might say that Clock leads an exceedingly dull life; imagine having to tell people, "It's 2 p.m. Saturday, time to go to the Stadium," or "It's 12 noon Saturday—off you go into the wild north yonder," or that it's — well — any old hour between classes, and time to visit Brother Andre — imagine saying these things, and not being able to take one's own advice.

Students come and go, professors come and go, even principals come and go, but Clock just goes on—and on—and on—
